Airline Forum 2026: Together as One

- Lufthansa Systems introduced the vision behind NetLine One, designed to connect airline expert teams and enable faster joint decisions
- The SIRAX user community joined the Airline Forum for the first time, strengthening the cooperation between operational and financial airline perspectives
- Over 580 participants from 90 airlines joined 68 sessions and explored 28 Marketplace booths during the three-day event

Frankfurt, 24th September 2026. This year's Lufthansa Systems Airline Forum brought together a broader range of airline business functions under the motto "Together as One." For the first time, the SIRAX user community joined the event, adding financial management topics to the established focus on airline operations. NetLine One was one of the key topics, translating the "Together as One" approach into a vision for more connected planning and operations.

"Collaboration across airline functions is becoming increasingly important as decisions in one area often affect many others. Bringing the NetLine and SIRAX communities together allows our customers to combine operational, financial, and commercial perspectives. Their direct feedback also gives us valuable insights for the continued development of NetLine One and SIRAX," said Stefanie Neumann, CEO at Lufthansa Systems.

NetLine One aligns planning and operations

NetLine One is Lufthansa Systems' vision for the future of integrated airline management. By connecting planning, operational execution, and intelligent decision support, it helps airlines align teams, increase transparency, and make more informed decisions across the operation. Closer integration between planning areas such as aircraft and crew planning enables airlines to better understand downstream impacts and during operations respond more effectively to disruptions.

At Airline Forum 2026, Lufthansa Systems unveiled this vision to customers for the first time through presentations, Q&A sessions, and collaborative workshops. Customer feedback, requirements, and real-world use cases will play an important role in shaping the further evolution of NetLine One.

SIRAX/ONE Order supports the transition to an Offer and Order world

SIRAX/ONE Order supports airlines with order accounting and settlement based on IATA ONE Order and Settlement with Orders standards. Its hybrid processing approach enables the parallel handling of legacy documents and orders, supporting a controlled, step-by-step move to order-based accounting and settlement.

Across 68 sessions, the Airline Forum combined expert presentations, workshops, and four customer presentations. An extensive Marketplace with 28 booths enabled participants to discuss directly with experts from Lufthansa Systems.
